

Who's Covering What Geoff Berner Song?

Lots of musicians seem to like Geoff Berner's songs enough to learn and play them. At the Regina Folk Festival last year, there were 4 different acts playing "Light Enough to Travel" on different stages, and Berner wasn't even there himself. Here is an incomplete list of the artists playing his compositions. Recorded versions are *ed.

The Be Good Tanyas, Nettwerk Records' country soul band: "Light Enough to Travel"*, "Iron Grey"

Kris Demeanor, Calgary singer/songwriter: "Clown and Bard"

Plan of Attack, Roberts' Creek Heavy Metal Band: "Suburban Family of Spies"*

Corb Lund, Alberta country singer/songwriter: "Light Enough to Travel"*

Realones, Norwegian "anarcoustic" band: "Light Enough to Travel"

Johnny Hide Palmer, Norwegian popster signed to BMG: "Light Enough to Travel"*

Carmaig De Forest, San Francisco ukelele playing songwriter: "Clown and Bard"*

Bob Bossin, legendary Canadian folksinger: "High School Cruiser"

Tanya Tagaq Gillis, throat singer from Nunavut: "A Minor Progression #3"*

Dan Bern, American satirical singer/songwriter: "High School Cruiser"

William Kurt Mueller, Los Angeles singer/songwriter: "Light Enough to Travel"

Cougar, all-girl Vancouver punk rock band: "Pathetic Little Anthem"*

Andras Jones, Olympia, WA singer/songwriter: "Maginot Line"

Vadim Budman, Edmonton avant garde jazz guitarist: "I.Y.M.", "My Dad's a Lawyer"

Luba Dvorak, Vancouver singer/songwriter: "Light Enough to Travel"

Sarah Wheeler, Vancouver singer/songwriter: "Beautiful In My Eyes"

David Taylor, Regina singer/songwriter: "Light Enough to Travel".

Biffy Perdue, Montreal industrial taxidermy unit: "The Greatest Song Ever Written", "Porn Queen Girlfriend"*

Dollar Store Mary, Regina pop band: "The Greatest Song Ever Written"